APPROVES ALL HEALTH RULES

Dr. Bruce McCreary Completes Local Authorities on Scarlet Fever Quarantine.

SUGGESTS NO CHANGES

Comments on Spirit of Co-Operation
Shown by College Authorities And Students. No Danger of Epidemic.

"Rules and regulations laid down by Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county medical inspector and the Gettysburg Board of Health are extremely satisfactory to me," said Dr. Bruce McCreary, of Shippensburg, district medical advisor for the area of which this county is a part, this afternoon in discussing the details in connection with the observation quarantine that was placed on Cottage Hall last Friday by the local health authorities when the illness of Wilbur Gibson, of Indiana, Pennsylvania, was diagnosed as scarlet fever.

"I fail to see where any improvement in the quarantine restrictions could be made," Dr. McCreary added. "Everyone, including the college authorities and college students, seem to be co-operating to the full extent with the State Department of Health in a way that is particularly pleasing."

Before making a visit to the patient who is now living in a temporary infirmary on the Academy campus, the building where Gibson was living when he contracted the disease and conferring with Dr. William A. Granville concerning the quarantine, Dr. McCreary carefully reviewed the history of the case in conference with Dr. Crist. He stated that in as much as the college authorities and students had co-operated so admirably with the Gettysburg health officials there was no occasion for a stricter observation quarantine at this time.

Dr. McCreary expressed the belief that there was no danger of any other cases of scarlet fever, saying that if there were to be any more to develop they would very likely have presented themselves before this time. He also pointed out that it was necessary to continue the observation quarantine until Friday to make doubly sure that no one else would contract the disease. "So long as nothing new develops in the situation and the students remain calm as they have up to this time there is no reason for going to more strict regulations," the medical advisor concluded. He stated that his visit to Gettysburg was not for the purpose of investigating the quarantine but at the request of local authorities who desired that he approve or disapprove of their dispositions in the case.

DIRECTORS MEET HERE NEXT WEEK

Twenty-Ninth Annual Convention Will be Held Thursday
And Friday.

TEACHERS ON SATURDAY

Retirement System And Salary Bill
Two Important Questions to be Discussed. Program Not Completed.

Gettysburg will be the mecca for school directors and teachers next week when the twenty-ninth annual convention of school directors will be held in the Court House. The directors' session will be held Thursday and Friday, February 19 and 20, while the teachers' rally will take place Saturday, February 21.

Although the entire program for the three day session has not been completed, Superintendent of Schools, H. Milton Roth, has announced that final arrangements will be made within a few days and the list of speakers will then be made public. As is the custom an entertainment for the directors will be provided on Thursday evening.

H. H. Baish, secretary of the Teachers' State Board will be present on Friday and Saturday and will explain fully the retirement system which is now in effect in Pennsylvania. Mr. Baish was present at the annual meeting last year but in as much as the retirement system had only a short time before being adopted by the State little interest was shown by the county teachers. This year, however, all educators have been following the development of the system and they will be given an opportunity at a round table conference to ask questions concerning the operation of the teachers' retirement fund.

Efforts are now being made to secure a corps of instructors for the convention that will discuss a variety of school questions which pertain particularly to conditions in this county. It is possible that Dr. Lee Driver, new chief of the bureau of rural education in the State Department of Public Instruction, will be one of the main speakers. It is known that Dr. Driver favors the consolidation of schools as one solution to the rural school problem and his appearance here will attract many directors of the county who are especially interested in this project.

Another subject which was discussed at the meeting of the State School Directors in Harrisburg last week, the Woodruff Salary bill, will be one of the centers of discussion at the meeting here. Certain provisions of this measure which have been the source of misunderstanding will be fully explained.

CANNOT TRAVEL BY SLEIGH

Need Sled For Side Roads and Lincoln
Highway Bare.

Adams county residents in the rural sections are facing a dilemma. With the side roads in many cases still blocked with snow and open only for travel by sleigh many are complaining because the Lincoln Highway has been swept bare by the snow plows. Persons who started out in sleighs to attend church Sunday were forced to walk when they reached the main highway.

The side roads are impassable in most places for the automobile and the wagon while these two vehicles are the only ones that can be used on the Lincoln Highway. The dweller in the rural community realizes the necessity for opening the main highway but at the same time believes it would have been possible to have allowed enough snow to remain in these roads to make traveling possible with sleighs.

CONDITION IMPROVING

The condition of H. W. Deardorff, who fell while shoveling snow from the roof of his house at Cashtown last week is improving. He is suffering from two fractured ribs.

TROLLEY CAR RUNS DOWN SLEIGH

Miss Amy Bonham, York, Known
Here, Suffers Fractured Skull.

Miss Amy Bonham and John C. Weeks, both of York, and well known in Gettysburg where they are frequent visitors, were seriously injured Saturday night when a westbound street car on the Country Club line wrecked the sleigh in which they were riding. Miss Bonham sustained a fractured skull and Mr. Weeks was badly bruised about the body and may have suffered internal injuries.

Miss Bonham and Mr. Weeks with a driver were going west along the Country Club road, near York. Because the road was drifted shut with snow the driver decided to use the street car track. A westbound car crashed into the sleigh from the rear. The motorman and conductor of the street car claim that the sleigh was not equipped with lights as is required by the State traffic laws. The occupants, however, say that the sleigh was properly lighted.

JUDGE SADLER CANDIDATE

Jurist Well Known Here Asks Supreme Court Chair.

Judge Sylvester B. Sadler, of Carlisle, well known here where he has frequently presided over the Adams county court, has announced his intention to become a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court. The members of the Cumberland county bar have unanimously tendered him their support. A campaign committee has been chosen, under the direction of which an active canvass will be instituted.

Judge Sadler is now serving his fifth term on the bench, having followed his father, Judge Wilbur F. Sadler, who presided over the Cumberland County Courts for twenty one years.

KILL ARMENIANS BY THOUSANDS

Dr. Paul Leinbach Says Stories of Massacres Are Not Overdrawn.

GAVE STIRRING ADDRESS

Noted Reformed Pastor Thrilled Audience With Relation of Experiences in Near East.

"The stories of the most terrible massacres in the world have not been exaggerated. In fact we found on our journey to Armenia that they were not only true in almost every detail but could be multiplied in number a hundred or a thousand times."

This startling statement was only one of many made by Dr. Paul Leinbach, noted Reformed minister who spent four months in the Near East last year as a member of a Sunday School commission, in his thrilling address on "The Near East" delivered before a large audience in St. James church, Sunday night.

"The Turks made every possible attempt to annihilate the Armenians," continued Dr. Leinbach. "I saw with my own eyes the official papers of the Turkish government saying that the terrible massacres and deportations were justifiable."

"Prior to the war," said the speaker, "these massacres were due to religious fanaticism and economic jealousy but in the past few years they have been due to jealousy. The Turks knew that the millions of Armenians in the heart of Africa were in sympathy with the Allies so they killed the leaders of this Christian nation and drove the rest away in hopes that they would lose their identity and the race would become extinct."

In telling of the excruciating torture inflicted upon the Armenian people during the period of deportation, Dr. Leinbach visibly horrified his audience. He said that when innocent Armenian citizens failed to confess a plot to revolt against the Turks they were immediately executed while their confederates would be tortured in indescribable fashion. Then the remaining men and women would be forced to abandon their homes which eventually would be looted and torn to the ground by the Turks.

"Christian Armenian women," cried Dr. Leinbach who held the audience spell bound by his forceful delivery, "would be cut in two by Turks who wanted to find money that they had swallowed. Other women would be taken into their harems to suffer every indignity known to womankind and to be branded like American men brand their cattle. When we left that country there were still 100,000 Christians."

SEARCH FOR GIRL

Allege Young Woman Left With $50
Liberty Bond.

Efforts of the police have failed to locate the whereabouts of Mary Guterman, twenty years old, who has been living at the home of John Eiker, South Washington street, and who is alleged to have left the Eiker residence Sunday afternoon for Harrisburg, taking with her a $50 Liberty bond belonging to a daughter of Mr. Eiker. Constable Charles Wilson who was notified of the alleged theft got in touch with the Harrisburg police but the young woman failed to reach Harrisburg on the evening train Sunday night although her baggage is being held there.

The girl has been boarding at the Eiker home for several months while she was working in the shirt factory. Without telling the family she took her belongings and left Sunday. Shortly afterward the Liberty bond which was kept in a vase on a table in the house was missed. The train had gone before the local police could be informed.

KEEP VIEWS QUIET SAYS PRESIDENT

Opposes Plan to Make Issue Now of Military Training.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, February 9—President Wilson opposes the plan to have the Democratic members of the House at their caucus tonight make an issue of universal military training.

The President's views are set forth in a letter to Secretary Baker transmitted to Democratic leaders in the House. Mr. Wilson says it would be "unfortunate to make a party issue on this subject particularly since within a few months the party will assemble in convention and declare the principles upon which it deems it wise to conduct itself in a national election."

The President says the distributed state of the world "does not permit such sureness with regard to America's obligations as to allow it lightly to decide this great question upon purely military grounds."

SENATE TAKES UP TREATY

Democrats and Republicans Join In Urging its Return.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, February 9—Consideration of the Treaty of Versailles was resumed in the open Senate today, Democrat and Republican leaders joining forces to bring it back for debate.

The decision was reached without debate, the Senate adopting a motion by Senator Lodge to reconsider the vote by which the Treaty was laid aside last November.

With the treaty formally before the Senate, Vice President Marshall ruled that it had brought back with it the cloture imposed before the November vote.

To get rid of the cloture restriction, Senator Lodge moved to re-commit the treaty to the Foreign Relations Committee. The motion which was carried put the Treaty technically out of the Senate and into the committee and ended for the time being discussion on the subject on the floor. The committee meets tomorrow and members expect a report to be made immediately.

DRIVE EXPERTS PERFECT PLANS

Complete Preliminary Organization For One Million Dollar
College Campaign.

MUCH WORK REMAINS

Must Go Over Situation Thoroughly
Before Launching Project About
April. Chicago Men in Charge.

Four Chicago campaign experts who have been exerting concentrated but quiet efforts since their advent to Gettysburg two weeks ago and who have succeeded in getting the preliminary organization of the $1,000,000 college drive almost perfected left this morning for various parts of Pennsylvania and Maryland to survey the situation in other sections where their work will be carried on later.

One half of the $1,000,000 is proposed to be devoted to an endowment fund and the other half to increase the salaries of members of the faculty as well as to carry out the constructive program for a "Greater Gettysburg."

Since arriving in Gettysburg the four Chicago men, J. Fitch Perkins, Earl H. Carr, Richard M. McKee, and C. T. Bowen, have had their time occupied by conferring with officials of the College and by perfecting preliminary steps at their offices in the Eagle Hotel.

"Work of this character," said Mr. McKee, who has spent the greater part of his life in general campaigning and who was just released from the $25,000,000 Christian Americanization Campaign, "requires as much preliminary work as politics. We must go over the ground as thoroughly and size up the situation as correctly as a politician running for the presidency."

J. Fitch Perkins, who came to Gettysburg from an exceedingly successful hospital campaign in Houston, Texas, is general director of the Gettysburg drive and Messrs. McKee, Carr and Bowen act in the capacity of territorial directors.

These four men have absolute authority during the campaign which is expected to start in April and the various college and church authorities act under their direction. Mr. Carr

FOUR SHOT DOWN AS MOB CHARGES

Kentucky Men Try to Lynch
Negro at Court House.

LOOTING THE PAWN SHOPS

Steal Revolvers to Combat State
Troops And Lexington Police. Soldiers Rushed From Camp Taylor.

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Kentucky, February 9—Four persons were killed and a number injured here today when a mob intent upon lynching William Lockett, a negro who confessed to the murder of Geneva Hardman, charged the court house during Lockett's trial and was fired upon by police and state troops.

In addition to the four persons killed, nineteen persons were injured when the troops fired into the mob the authorities ascertained later.

Four hundred troops from Camp Taylor, Kentucky, have been ordered to Lexington and are now en route here, officials announce. The additional troops were requested as it was feared that 300 militiamen could not handle the situation.

The mob is now looting pawn shops. Sixty two revolvers were taken at one place. An attack on the troops is feared by the authorities.

Two women were reported to be among those shot by the state troops. The clash with the soldiers held off the mob while authorities managed to slip the negro away to a place of safety.

While the mob, the ringleader of which carried a rope, was attempting to get into the court house to get Lockett, a jury found him guilty of first degree murder and a minute or two later the negro was sentenced to die in the electric chair on March 11.

Lockett confessed to the assault and murder of the little Hardman girl last Tuesday.

Early today hundreds of farmers came here from the surrounding country to attend the trial. They gathered in groups in all parts of the city.

The state troops closely watched the crowd when the negro was taken from a train to the court house.

Get News At Louisville

Louisville, February 9—Reports received here by telephone during the forenoon said mobs were looting pawn shops and hardware stores in Lexington in an effort to obtain firearms and had declared their intention of securing the negro by any means.

On the heels of the report came an appeal from Governor Morrow for troops to protect the negro and quiet the situation.

Arrangements were made immediately at Camp Taylor to form new provisional battalions of 160 men each and send them to Lexington. Lexington is nearly 100 miles from Louisville.

HOOVER IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Food Administrator Defines His Attitude Toward the Presidency.

NO PARTY AFFILIATIONS

Will Support Organization Favoring League. Opposed to Socialism. Will Back Party With Ideals.

New York, February 9.—Herbert Hoover last night issued a statement defining his attitude toward the presidency. He announced that he is not a candidate for the nomination, and that no one is authorized to speak for him politically. If the League of Nations is made an issue in the election, he says, he will vote for the party that stands for the league. In response to requests that he declare allegiance to either one or the other of the great political parties, Mr. Hoover says he will wait until it more definitely appears what the party managers stand for, and will "exercise a prerogative of American citizenship and decline to pledge my vote blind-fold."

His statement follows: "In order to answer a large number of questions all at once, let me emphasize that I have taken a day off from the industrial conference in Washington to come to New York solely to attend to pressing matters in connection with the children's relief. I want to say again: I have not sought and am not seeking the presidency. I am not a candidate. I have no organization. No one is authorized to speak for me politically."

Stands For The League

"As an American citizen by birth and of long ancestry, I am naturally deeply interested in the present critical situation. My sincere and only political desire is that one or both of the great political parties will approach the vital issues which have grown out of the war and are new, with a clear purpose looking to the welfare of our people, and that candidates capable of carrying out this work should be nominated."

"If the treaty goes over with the presidential election (with any reservations necessary to clarify the world's mind that there can be no infringement of the safeguards provided by our Constitution and our nation-old traditions) then I must vote for the party that stands for the League."

This deduction carries with it the conclusion that the President will pigeon hole the treaty if it is ratified by the Senate with reservations that, in his opinion, "cut the heart out of the covenant."

There is no one now mentioned in the presidential possibilities who is radical enough to meet the requirements of Bryan pitted against White House influences.

Bryan For Bryan

The general belief is that Mr. Bryan will demand the nomination for himself and failing in that may align himself with the several outside parties now forming.

President Wilson has given no indication of his preference in the presidential race. The strategy of his position compels him to remain silent on his position, for to say that he would not again seek the presidency would nullify his arguments in the treaty dispute.

It is believed that the administration hosts will be divided with the old time politicians supporting former Secretary McAdoo and the more conservative elements behind Attorney General Palmer.

There is much speculation as to the meaning of the fight that Thomas B. Love, national committeeman from Texas, is making to capture that state's 40 delegates for Mr. McAdoo as against former Senator Joseph W. Bailey's fight to send the delegates to the convention uninstructed.

McAdoo and Hoover
This activity on the part of Mr. Love in connection with Postmaster General Burleson's support of Mr. McAdoo is accepted as meaning that the President has not opposed Mr. McAdoo's ambitions.

BIG FIRE AT M'KEESPORT

Property Valued at $800,000 Destroyed.

Pittsburgh, Pa., February 9.—Loss, estimated at $800,000 resulted from fire undetermined origin which destroyed two buildings and damaged a number of others at McKeesport, near here, Sunday.

The fire started in the six-story brick structure occupied by the McKeesport Ice and Cold Storage Company, and this building and an adjoining residence were entirely destroyed. A department store, located on one side of the ice plant, was badly damaged. Explosions of ammonia in the ice company's building hindered the work of firemen. One fire-fighter, struck by falling debris, was injured.

SPIKER MARRIES MISS KNOWLES

English Girl Bride of Former Sweetheart's Brother. Final Chapter.

Baltimore, February 9.—The final chapter in the romance of Emily Knowles, the English girl, about whom has revolved the quadrangular love tangle, was enacted in Fall River Sunday afternoon, when the mother of Perley Spiker's child, became the sister-in-law of his wife, Mrs. Cora Spiker, by taking for her husband, Perley Spiker's brother, Guy S. Spiker. In this character, Miss Knowles became the sister-in-law of her former sweetheart, and in a legal sense, the aunt of her own child, the father of which, by American law, is now its uncle.

With his bride, and the child, Guy Spiker will leave Fall River this evening and will come to Baltimore, where the four principals in the strange tangle will all live, for a while at least, at the home of the Perley Spikers, 3033 East Baltimore street.

At Battersby Home
The ceremony was performed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Battersby and its consummation automatically removed the immigration restrictions on the English girl and her child, she becoming under the law an American citizen. Rev. Henry A. Arnold of the Bogle Street Christian Church, Fall River, officiated. Mrs. Sarah Battersby, a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Battersby, and Charles Whitehead, a son-in-law, were witnesses.

Guy Spiker arrived at Fall River on Saturday. He called at the home of Assistant City Clerk J. F. Delahanty to obtain the marriage license, but owing to a legal technicality, it was not issued until yesterday at 10 a. m. The ceremony, which had been set for this hour, was necessarily postponed until 2 p. m. yesterday.

After she had become Spiker's bride, the English girl seemed exceedingly happy. She invited a group of newspaper men into the Battersby home and told them of many incidents of English life during the war and described graphically the funeral of Nurse Cavell.

Rehearse in Kitchen
She also told of her shopping trip last Wednesday, when she purchased her wedding garments and a new hat.

Prior to the ceremony, the minister, who seemed to be glad to officiate, took Spiker and the girl to the kitchen of the home, where he rehearsed them in the marriage ceremony. Then, just as they all went into the parlor for the wedding, the newspaper correspondents were invited in to witness it. The bride wore a suit dress of navy blue serge, with a tunic trimmed with braid. Her hair was caught back on the sides of her head with brilliant pins.

MISS ANNA BARE

Native of East Berlin Dies in Hanover at Age of 87.

Anna Bare, of Hanover, died Sunday morning at 9:15 o'clock from the infirmities of age, aged 87 years, 7 months and 4 days. She had been ill only four weeks. She was a daughter of the late Daniel and Nancy Bare, and was born near East Berlin. She had never married, and has no near relatives, her sister, Miss Amanda, dying four years ago, February 10, 1916. She was a life-long member of the Mennonite church, and a liberal and conscientious supporter of it. This was also characteristic of the sister who preceded her in death. Funeral on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from the house, with further services from the Broadway Mennonite church, Rev. Daniel Stump and Rev. Peter Shank, officiating. Interment in the old York Road graveyard, near Hanover.

FEAR GERMANS CROSS THE BORDER

Men Wanted by Allies May Enter Switzerland to Escape Arrest.

LAW DOES NOT PREVENT

Army And Navy Leaders Determined to Prevent Seizure. Say List is Not Complete.

Geneva, February 9.—Anxiety is growing in Swiss official quarters lest many Germans accused by the Allies of war crimes enter Switzerland to escape liability under the peace treaty.

It is reported from Basle that Vice Admiral von Capelle, former minister of the German navy, crossed the frontier Saturday. Baron von Derr Lancken, Civil Governor of Brussels during the German occupation, is reported to have arrived in Switzerland from Munich. Former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria has been staying at Davos.

There is no Swiss law against the entrance into the country of fugitives.

London, February 9.—The Exchange Telegraph's Copenhagen correspondent says that the Berlin government is resolved to call a meeting of Parliament immediately upon receipt of the Allied note demanding the surrender of those guilty of war crimes.

Berlin, February 9.—A secret meeting of army and navy leaders a month ago, in anticipation of the Allies' demand for extradition of those guilty of war crimes, compiled a set of regulations for common action. These instructions, which are signed by Generals Von Heeringen, Von Kluck and Falkenhayn, as well as others, declare that it is no violation of honor for one to place himself outside the pale of seizure by his own government or the Entente. Therefore, they must refuse to surrender, refuse to recognize the legality of a foreign court and do nothing in the shape of personal defense, or otherwise acknowledge such court, but make the following common declaration in the German language:

"I have merely done my duty as a German soldier. As such I refuse to recognize a foreign court and also decline to make any further statement."

The covering note says that not all Germans guilty of infractions of the laws of warfare are included in the list, but for reasons of practicability only those are cited to whom the greatest responsibility attaches. The Allied Powers, however, do not propose amnesty for those not included, but reserve the right to prosecute them in the event they are apprehended in their territories. Possession of all German documentary evidence and access to the archives are also demanded to facilitate prosecution.

In a supplementary note the Allied Powers reply to the German communication of January 25, which explained Germany's reasons for not carrying out the extradition provision.

FACE FINANCIAL CRISIS—GILLET

Situation Worst in History of Country. Due to Inflated Conditions.

Springfield, Mass., February 9.—The United States is facing the worst financial crisis in its history, declared Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, of the National House of Representatives, Saturday afternoon in an address here before 5,000 persons.

The present high cost of living, he said, is due largely to the greatly inflated conditions due to the floating debt of $4,000,000,000 in Treasury certificates, and the principal means of bringing it down is by thrift on the part of the public, with the alternative that this country will face a panic similar to that of 1893. It is up to the public, he said, to practice due care and eliminate luxuries so that the present conditions may be bettered.

Like the problem of years ago, when the government was forced to fight trusts, the speaker said that today Congress faces a new question, "a question whether the combination of the employed are not more threatening to our business life than that of the employers."

Continuing, he declared he believed that labor unions are essential for the protection of the men, but "when they go so far as to threaten, for their own advancement, to stop the wheels of the railroads and close the output of the mines, without which our whole industrial organization would collapse, they, in their turn, are exercising a power which no government can safely permit."

Speaking of Victor Berger and his expulsion from Congress a second time without having the facts brought out, Speaker Gillett said such action was justified, as the Constitution provided that no man once expelled from his seat is eligible to return.

tian women in those Turkish harems." The most touching story told by Dr. Leinbach was the one of Lucia, a beautiful Armenian girl whom he met on the banks of the Suez canal.

"Lucia saw her husband beaten to death before her very eyes," he said. "She saw her father and her mother killed and her sister carried away shrieking in the grasp of a burly Turk."

"And Lucia," said the speaker lowering his voice, "saw her own three little children starve to death."

"I met her," he continued, "after she had been forced to live two years with an Arab and when she talked to me she carried in her arms a child by that Arab father. And even then she said to me 'I believe that Jesus still has some work for me to do.' Hers was the greatest evidence of faith that I have ever seen."

Dr. Leinbach ended with a stirring appeal for Americans to aid the suffering Armenians. He said that even at the present time the Armenians are in great danger and will be massacred in great numbers again if the "Allies withdraw their troops and machine guns."

"These Christian people are reaching out their hands across the sea and crying for help. I believe that you will see those hands and will answer that cry," he said at the end of his address which was one of the finest delivered in Gettysburg for many months.

Rev. F. E. Taylor, Presbyterian pastor who has charge of the Armenian drive starting in Adams county on February 15, called for a voluntary contribution which netted $86.20 for the cause.

Dr. A. E. Wagner, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, introduced Dr. Leinbach whom he knew well in Altoona a number of years ago.

COCKTAILS IN STREET

"Makings" Poured In The Snow As Thirsty Watch.

New York, Feb. 9—Thousands of potential cocktails were poured into the snow by prohibition agents while crowds of thirsty folk looked on mournfully.

The first destruction by prohibition agents of alcoholic liquor occurred outside the quarters of a manufacturer of cordials and flavoring extracts, and was done at his request. He asked the agents to destroy every liquid in his office that contained more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol.

YORK WILL PLANT LIBERTY TREES

That County to Beautify Lincoln Highway For Men Who Died in Service.

A national effort is being made to plant trees on the Lincoln Highway from coast-to-coast, as a memorial to the Veterans of the World War. The trees are to be red oaks, American elms, sugar maples and tulip trees. They are to be planted back from center of road, so as not to interfere with traffic, or increased traffic as years pass.

A York County Committee has been formed and has arranged to get the trees and have them planted along the State highway from Wrightsville to Abbottstown. It is a county proposition and money to purchase the trees is to be contributed by all towns and districts of York county. It will take 2,500 trees. Each tree will cost $2.50 and if any one wishes to have a tree marked for a soldier who made the supreme sacrifice for his country, a brass plate will be provided for $1 additional.

Hanover has been asked to contribute trees, and a soliciting committee will visit business firms and individuals during the coming week.

FEAR AMERICAN SLANG

England Apprehensive That Vocabulary of Youth Are Affected.

London, Feb. 9—England is apprehensive lest the vocabularies of her youth become corrupted through incursions of American slang.

Trans-Atlantic tourists in England note with interest the frequency with which resort is made to "Yankee talk" by British song and play-writers seeking to enliven their productions. Bands and orchestras throughout the country, when playing popular music, play American selections almost exclusively. American songs monopolize the English music hall and musical comedy stage.

It is the subtitle of the American moving picture film which, it is feared, constitutes the most menacing threat to vaunted English purity of speech.

"The child at the pictures is picking up a new language from the slangy American films," says a critic in a contribution to the London Daily News headed, "The Vulgar Tongue."

OLDEST COUPLE MARRIED

Bride of 79 Weds Bridegroom Who is 82.

Philadelphia, Feb. 9—The oldest couple that ever obtained a marriage license in the city were married last week.

The bridegroom is Antonio di Ienna, 82 years old, a junkman. His bride, Maria Molesse, 79 years old, is his fourth wife. It was her third wedding.

The license was obtained a few hours before the wedding, which was performed at the Catholic church of Saint Mary Magdalene by the Rev. Thomas Della Ciappina.

"We don't consider our marriage anything unusual," commented Di Ienna. "We do not feel as old as we look. I was lonesome and wanted someone to cook me some nice meals."

TO TEST WATER

Health Officer F. Y. Stambaugh, of Hanover, has stated that officials, probably one each from the Engineering and Health Departments of the State, would be in Hanover next week to look into the condition of the water supply.

For nearly a week the water has taken on a yellowish, dirty tinge and is unpalatable. A number of physicians say there may be danger of typhoid fever.

CASUALTIES 302,612

Completed Total Shows Number of Dead 77,118.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9—Corrected figures on casualties in the A. E. F., published Saturday by the War Department, brought the total to 302,612 instead of 203,061, as shown in figures compiled from weekly reports furnished to the press. The corrected total was compiled by the adjutant general after comparing his records with those from France.

The difference was due primarily to inclusion in the revised statistics of the total number of cases of wounds reported, instead of the number of individual soldiers receiving wounds. It sometimes happened that a soldier was wounded several times.

The corrected figures were 221,059 wounded, 77,118 deaths, 4432 captured by the enemy and three missing in action. Casualties in Siberia were not included.

FEEL COAL SHORTAGE

Steelton Plants Forced To Reduce Operations.

The acute coal shortage has necessitated the reduction in operation of the Steelton plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company by more than fifty per cent. A large number of men employed in the rolling mills and frog shop were thrown out of work for the day. The situation is said to be more serious than it has been for many years.

After the departments were ordered closed coal shipments started to arrive, 78 cars having been delivered by the railroad companies. With this supply which will keep the plant running to full capacity for a day and an exceptionally bright outlook for shipments in the future it is not likely a further shutdown will be necessary, officials said.

SPORTING COLUMN
THREE HOME TEAMS
LOST SATURDAY

High School, College, and Academy Defeated in Basketball Contests.

For the first time in the year 1920 three Gettysburg basketball teams met defeat on one day, Saturday, when College was unexpectedly setback by Albright 37-33; High School was defeated by Reading High, 39-24; and the Academy was overwhelmed by the fast Hanover High aggregation, 29-10.

High School and Academy were beaten on the local floor while College, manifestly crippled by the absence of Bream and Miller, lost to Albright at Myerstown.

Fans who journeyed to the local gymnasium, Saturday night, had the opportunity of witnessing the fastest High School five that ever played here when Reading won a hard fought contest from Gettysburg.

Outclassed in speed and experience the Gettysburg team put up a game battle and with the exception of the closing minutes of the first half forced the Reading boys to exert themselves to the limit. During those minutes the local lads failed to cover up and the accurate shooting Reading boys fairly rained shots through the basket.

With the score 29-11 against them at the start of the second half the Gettysburg players showed renewed life and actually outscored their opponents 13-10 in that period. Friedman, the big Reading forward, became helpless when guarded every step by Weiser and failed to tally more than one basket. Instead he gave instructions to Christian and Yoder, the two little Reading flashes, to score the points and those instructions were carried out to the letter.

"Curley" Christian, fifteen year old forward, was the fastest scholastic player ever seen and won continued applause from the fans. He was the outstanding star of the contest.

The entire Gettysburg team deserved commendation for putting up a great battle against a team of the caliber of Reading. Captain Armor played a splendid defensive game while Hunter, as usual, was the star on the offense.

Delicate Children

There is nothing like Vinol, our Cod Liver and Iron Tonic, to build up frail, sickly children.

Her Doctor Advised Vinol

Aiken, S. C. — "My little girl five years of age had been delicate all her life. Last January pneumonia left her in a very weak, run-down condition with no appetite, and she could not keep still a minute, not even in her sleep. We were very much worried about her, and our druggist, who is a doctor, said Vinol was the best tonic he knew for one in her condition. We tried it and you ought to see how she has improved by its use. I cannot say too much for Vinol."

Mrs. LEONARD W. GEORGE.

We ask all parents of weak, sickly, delicate children in this vicinity to try Vinol with the understanding that we will return your money if it fails to benefit your little ones. Children love to take it.

In March 1864, Abraham Lincoln said, "Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; it is a positive good in the world."

Property today in Gettysburg & Adams County is very desirable, and with the progress of the town, will become more desirable. Why not own your own home? Start by buying a lot now, and build in the early spring. There are very desirable building lots for sale on Broadway, Stevens Street, East Middle Street and Seminary Avenue, that can be bought at the right price. The price of building should not deter you, because the demand in Gettysburg is so much greater than the supply that a reduction in the cost of construction is so far in the future (if it comes at all) that you will lose money by waiting.

There are a few good homes and good business properties for sale in Gettysburg, among them a large substantially built brick house close to Center Square on Baltimore Street, out of which one can make three excellent apartments, that is worth considering at the price at which it can be bought.

Good frame dwelling on South Washington Street on a 40 foot lot. Large stable, buildings in excellent repair, for a price that would not be enough to erect the house, without the other buildings.

Brick and frame house on York Street with available ground for several other buildings. Property located to insure good renters at all times.

A very desirable home on Broadway with every convenience.

Brick house on Carlisle Street with conveniences, and everything in good repair.

If you do not find on this list the property to suit your needs, let me know just what you want, and it may be possible that that I can get it for you.

I have a few farms that can be bought at a price the income will prove they are worth, and possession secured on April 1st. If you are on the market for any sort of property, it will be worth your while to come in and talk it over. Our aim in business is to give you prompt, efficient service. We can buy for you as well as sell to you. We can insure your property no matter where located, your automobile, in fact anything that is insurable, in strictly good company's, and in many cases are in position to save you money. Our experience is at your service, in fact we are most anxious to serve you in any capacity possible.

Gettysburg needs housing facilities, and we are endeavoring just how many people we will have to take care of in the spring. If you are one of the people without a place in which to move in Gettysburg in the spring, let me have your name. If you have a house or apartment or part of a house to rent, let me have your name. It will cost you nothing in either case for this service. Our object in wanting this information is to be able to take care of as many people as possible that are necessary to the business interests of Gettysburg.

THE BIG HOPE

By LAURA DREW.

Dave Lindley was in New York four weeks before it dawned on him that his capital was dwindling to a few dollars, and nobody seemed to appreciate the value of his presence there in a business way.

He had been so accustomed to the way people regarded him up home it had been a distinct shock to be overlooked. In Saginaw his father was the old lumber king, Jackson Lindley. His boats were leaders in lake shipping. His name a power in state politics and he had just one son to slip into his place.

The trouble was that son had inherited the temperament and looks of his mother, Nanon Sevier, a French-Canadian girl from the straits, whose dark eyes and capricious ways had drawn the silent Yankee lumberjack to her, back in the early days in the northern forests.

Lindley had come out of Ann Arbor with a new viewpoint and the wanderlust. His love affair with Bab Wellesley had been a natural result. She was with a little insipid comedy company that happened to strike Saginaw on its route up the lake, and to Lindley she was the personification of the New York world he longed to see and be a part of. In his senior way he had tried to meet her and make her forgetful of a whirlwind memory, but the trouble was you couldn't find the makings of a whirlwind in Saginaw. At the end of the motor trips and little suppers after the show Bab said good-by.

"You're an awfully nice kid, Lind. If you ever hit New York you'd get along great. If you'd keep your head and not be like they are down there."

He had asked what she meant, and she had only shrugged her shoulders. Nothing she had said, only nobody cared about anybody else down there. They weren't neighbors; they just didn't care whether you lived or died, even if you happened to be next door to them.

"You'll know what I mean if you ever go there," she added.

Now he knew. He had moved from the McAlpin into a little furnished room on a side street. Not that he had to. He could have wired home for money, but he wanted to show the old man he could stand on his own and make good. There was nobody in the rooming house who ever spoke to him excepting the old Irish woman who came to clean up his room.

But when he passed in and out he often saw a girl at the telephone in the lower hall. She attracted him oddly, because she seemed like one of the girls back home.

Then one night he was awakened by a snoring sensation in his throat, and he opened his eyes to find himself in a gray cloud.

From the basement windows the smoke was pouring out thickly. A man passed in the falling snow and he halted him, telling him to turn in the alarm at the corner while he roused the rest of the house. He tried as he made his way through the smoke-filled halls to remember the people in the rooms above, but on the third landing Miss Donald met him, and she was wrapped in a long gray cloak.

"I've called them all," she told him quietly. "It is just the furnace. There isn't any real danger of fire. Nora forgot to open the draughts before she went to bed, and the house is filled with cold air and smoke. It's all right now. She went down to fix it."

"When there's so much smoke there isn't much flame, Mr. Lindley," she said seriously.

"How did you know my name? I didn't think anybody in New York knew their neighbor's names even," he told her.

She laughed and hesitated. "You see, I know some one who knows you. Bab Wellesley. She's in the same show I am this season up at the Jardin des Fleurs, a roof show, you know. I'm from the West, too, Omaha, and we're friends. She was down here to see me and recognized you as you came through the hall, but you didn't seem to remember her. But I know all about you, and I've wanted to talk to you so much and tell you to go back home."

"Go back?" he repeated. "Why?"

"Before you lose your big hope. Bab wanted to be the new Marlowe, and I thought I would be at the opera in a year, and here we are up there at the Jardin, and glad to get the engagement, too. She's going home, too. I would, too, if I had any to go to, but my mother's dead and my father's married again, so I'm not wanted."

At the end of three months old Jackson Lindley landed in New York to look up his "one and only," as he told Nora when she led him into the old red brick house. And Nora broke the news to him confidentially and jubilantly.

"Sure, he was the finest young man ever lived here, and that free, too, with his small change to a body who needs it. And she was so pretty, sir, you would have loved her yourself. And it was just like Cinderella, for one day they went away together and came back in a big new limousine, and there she sat, dressed like the best of them, and her little new ring on her hand, and the smile of her—"

Nora's hands lifted rapturously. Lindley looked at the telegram he had found forwarded to him. Nora had interpreted it for him.

"I've found the big hope. Expect us some 15th."
